Happy Fathers Day

“The father of the righteous has great joy. Whoever fathers a wise child delights in him”. Proverbs 23:24

Footprints

"Walk a little slower daddy," said a child so small.
"I'm following in your footsteps and I don't want to fall.
Sometimes your steps are very fast, Sometimes they're hard to see;
So walk a little slower, Daddy, For you are leading me.
Someday when I'm all grown up, You're what I want to be;
Then I will have a little child Who'll want to follow me.
And I would want to lead just right, And know that I was true;
So, walk a little slower, Daddy, For I must follow you."

God our Father, in wisdom and love you made all things. Bless those fathers who have taken upon themselves, the responsibility of parenting. Bless those who have lost a spouse to death, or divorce who are parenting their children alone. Strengthen them by your love, that they may be and become the loving, caring people they are meant to be. Grant this through Christ our Lord.

Amen

To all the Father’s, we hope you enjoyed your special day last Sunday and that it was one to remember.

STAFF CONFERENCE

Last Friday was a pupil free day for all Lutheran schools in South Australia whilst their staff attended the Lutheran Teachers Conference in various schools and Conference venues around Adelaide. These conferences are a great opportunity not only to network with each other but to also learn from and with each other as part of the wider ‘body’ that is ‘Lutheran Schools’. It’s a wonderful chance to start and progress through the day with worship, followed by Professional Development as a Lutheran School cohort, united as lifelong learners to learn more about our vocation, which in turn enables us to serve our students. The staff went to the Entertainment Centre to be inspired by a myriad of speakers all focused on celebrating 175 years of Lutheran schooling. We started with our history, hearing from retired principals and teachers, followed by ex-students of Lutheran Schools who have certainly made their mark in society in sports, the arts, politics and the service industry. We were also inspired by speakers who asked us to consider the future of Lutheran Schools. The Head of School, of the only Lutheran school in Shanghi, China Mr Gregg Pinick shared with us his hopes for the future and encouraged us to join in the journey. It was a special day.

The Leadership team have been working through the large number of teacher applicants keen to work at Navigator College. It is very affirming for the College to have so many interested prospective teachers keen to be a part of this wonderful learning environment. Interviews were held this week and last week and we hope to have most positions for 2015 finalised shortly. Our Navigator College team is continuing to expand!

Sadly this week marks our farewell to our Year 4/5 teacher Jess Trudgen. Jess leaves us to head back to Adelaide and we wish her every blessing as she settles back home with family. Jess is an excellent educator and we know God has great plans for her future. As of next week Kimberley Hein becomes the classroom teacher of the 4/5 class and we wish her the very best in her new role at Navigator College.

God bless
Kaye

She has an awareness of the spiritual needs of the College, Staff and Students.

Vision for the College

Kaye has a clear and passionate perspective on the direction of Navigator College and promotes our Vision & Mission Statements. Also, staff believe she has a high standard of teaching and learning. Parents appreciate her welcoming approach, her abilities and the way she encourages the students.

Leadership & Teaching & Education

Parents appreciate Kaye’s presence in the school yard, at open days and information nights. Her presence and visibility are high and her interactions are positive. Kaye encourages her teachers in professional development and ongoing educational and spiritual training.

FROM THE CHAIRPERSON OF THE COLLEGE COUNCIL

In May this year, 217 people were asked to complete a Principal Performance Review for Kaye. On behalf of the Lutheran Schools Association, I would like to thank you for taking the time to complete this review and to thank you for your responses. The overall performance comments were outstanding and I would like to congratulate Kaye on this very successful achievement. I would also like to highlight a summary of some of the comments made.

Spiritual Vision & Leadership

Kaye openly shares her faith and her strong leadership. Kaye leads by example with integrity and compassion.
SCREEN TIME

I have been doing some extended reading at the moment around the area of Screen Time for students. With the advent of our 1:1 iPad program in Year 4/5, and with the advice of medical practitioners, I’d like to take a moment to reflect on the amount of screen time we are exposing our students to on a daily basis.

From a positive point of view, the use of an iPad has extensive educational advantages for our students. We have seen an increase in motivation to learn, the desire to take risks by reluctant learners and the production of incredible pieces of work, which students are immensely proud of.

As with any device, we can get carried away and let the device take over.

Experts recommend that:
Parents limit the amount of screen time per day.
Students are encouraged to play creatively outdoors and be involved in regular fitness activity.
Students should actively interact with peers and family away from screens.

Increased screen time can lead to:-
Sleep disturbances
Anxiety and depression
Increased emotional distress
Increased levels of obesity

May we continue to seek a balance in the life of our students between screen time and the many other facets of happy, healthy and active students, as we work in partnership with each other to develop well rounded 21st century citizens.

In Christian Studies, our Reception classes are currently inquiring into the central idea “God gathers Christians to worship Him”. On Tuesday the 19th of August we went on an excursion to Unity Hill Christian Ministry Centre. At Unity Hill we explored aspects of Christian worship including various styles of worship music and the purpose and significance of this music.

We investigated a variety of symbols within the church, such as stained glass windows, the baptismal font, crosses, doves, candles and flowers. We had time to explore the church and investigate its features. We also compared some of these features to those we are familiar with within our own classroom worship spaces, devotion times and chapel services.

We had a scavenger hunt around the church and hunted for as many crosses as we could find. There was much debate afterwards about the actual number of crosses we all found! Pastor Benji even performed a pretend baptism which we all thought was very funny! We even had the opportunity to work together in our very own worship band, using a variety of instruments we sang and played along to “Jesus You’re My Superhero”. This was a big hit with everyone. Pastor Benji invited us to stay for lunch and play on the new playground at Unity Hill.

We had an awesome time on our excursion and we enjoyed exploring the variety of ways Christians can worship and also why Christians worship. A big THANK YOU must go to Pastor Benji, Liz and Helen from Unity Hill for making our visit a very memorable one. Thank you also to our wonderful parent helpers and Mrs Davis who came along with us on the day.

The Choir performed admirably as part of the Eyre Peninsula Combined Choir for the Festival of Music at the Nautilus Theatre last week. The students have worked hard to learn a program of 13 songs for the event and Bailey Skalski performed a solo after being chosen by audition for the role. It was a great night to attend with support acts from around the Peninsula included in the evening’s entertainment.

Eleanor Roosevelt made the following statement:

“Small minds talk about people, average minds talk about events, and great minds talk about ideas.”

We are privileged at Navigator College to be entrusted with a role in facilitating the development of the minds of young people. One aspect we love about education is empowering students with the ability to think critically and creatively when it comes to finding and solving problems in our world, coupling this with the confidence to believe in their ideas, knowing that they do indeed have the power to change the world. For student ideas to thrive, we also need a culture that embraces and celebrates idea creation.

I was recently reading an article “How to know if your dumb idea will change the world” by Evie Nagy. In this article Sam Schillace; an innovator that developed the basis for Google Docs, shares some insights into the journey of an idea from being something crazy, to becoming a world changer. He makes the following statements:

“What I’ve learned over time is that creative, interesting ideas almost always look stupid at first, It’s really hard once one of these things emerges to think about what the world was like before it emerged”.

“Whenever you see something that’s truly creative or disruptive, it challenges your worldview. And when you’re challenged like that, you have a choice either to accept the challenge, meaning that you are in some way wrong, or reject it, which is saying that the thing itself is wrong.”

Our world is in a time of change like no other. This world desperately needs a generation of innovators, and creative thinkers who are able to help our society adapt to change. To raise such a generation we need to create cultures that celebrate creativity, promote thinking and outside of the status quo. A culture where young people passionately talk about and pursue ideas rather than gossip about people and squash ideas. As Schillace says “often the most innovative ideas, look stupid at first”. As a community, I believe we have a responsibility to accept the challenge of the ideas and creations of our young people, and celebrate the development of great minds in the next generation.

I have a few challenges for us all this week:

1. Transform some of your conversations. Intentionally talk about ideas, other events or people.
2. Celebrate a creative idea. Encourage someone for thinking outside of the box.
3. Open your mind and allow your worldview to be challenged. Resist the temptation to squash a different way of doing things.

And what a fabulous opportunity to do all of the above at the Middle School Celebration of Learning. Wednesday 17th September 5:45 – 8pm.

“Don’t let anyone think less of you because you are young. Be an example to all believers in what you say, in the way you live, in your love, your faith, and your purity.” (1 Timothy 4:12)

PARENT TEACHER INTERVIEWS – Tuesday the 23rd & Wednesday the 24th of September

Parent Teacher Interviews are being held on Tuesday, 23rd of September and Wednesday, 24th of September from 3:30pm to 8:00pm for Reception – Year 11. Junior School parents will receive their child/s report at this interview. Parent Teacher Interviews are an invaluable way of promoting the partnership between parents and teachers to support your child/s success.

Junior School families will receive a reminder of their username and password in their communication book, and this information has been emailed to Middle School and Senior School families. Alternatively, if you have an email address registered with the College, you can request your password online through the Parent Teacher Online interview system.

If you have any trouble, please do not hesitate to contact the College Office on (08) 8682 5099. We look forward to catching up with you at the Parent Teacher Interviews!

Please note: Stuart Cox, Sarah Smith and Susan Hopping will be unavailable in Week 10 for Parent Teacher Interviews as they will be on the College’s Service Learning trip. However, the Parent Teacher Online system will allow you to book interviews with them for Week 1, Term 4.
This week has been very busy, constructing timetables, organising the Indonesian Service Learning Trip and activities that support that event. There were fundraising activities that assisted in raising money towards beds for the student accommodation house and we are thankful for the staff, parents and students that assisted in supporting those events.

We also celebrate the 175 years of Lutheran Education both as staff, last Friday and with the students on Friday the 19th of September. The organising committee have put together a program of events called ‘Navfest’ that will identify all the wonderful educational achievements that have developed through our Lutheran heritage here in Australia. There will even be a cultural dance activity demonstrated by the staff, which should be entertaining. Our Year 12 students will be gearing up for practice exams next week, and the Physical Education students will have a moderation day. We wish them all well.

SATAC terminology can be a minefield, especially at the end of the year. It is often difficult for many teachers and staff to navigate (myself included) let alone students and parents new to the system. It is also an area that has shown significant changes over the past 10 years with no change in the terminology. This has led to some major misconceptions, which usually start with ‘when I went through….’.

Following are some annotated excerpts from the SATAC Tertiary Entrance booklet which will hopefully clear some of the misconceptions about the transition from school to uni/TAFE. A copy of the full document can be found at http://www.satac.edu.au/documents/teb_2015.pdf or, as always, come see myself, Stuart Cox or Francois Plenaar at the College for more information.

SACE Coordinator

Step 1: Students complete the SACE

Completing the SACE

To be awarded the SACE students completing Stage 2 in 2014 must:

- complete 200 credits of subjects
- achieve a grade of C* or better in the Personal Learning Plan, 20 credits of literacy, 10 credits of numeracy and the Research Project at Stage 2
- achieve a grade of C- or better in an additional 60 credits at Stage 2

* For Stage 2 subjects a grade of C- or better.

For full details about the SACE, talk to your teachers or refer to the SACE Board of South Australia website www.sace.sa.edu.au

- If the College thought the achievement of this was in question, we would have already contacted you weeks ago.
- At present, all Navigator College students (barring any last minute hiccups) are on track to achieve this.
Step 2: The SACE board calculates the university aggregate.

How your university aggregate is calculated

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>60</th>
<th>20</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Three 20 credit scores</td>
<td>Final 20 credits - flexible option</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Your scaled scores from three 20 credit subjects are used. Normally, 10 credit subjects do not count towards this requirement but some 10 credit subjects in the same subject area, when studied in pairs, can substitute for a 20 credit subject. These are called wild points. Such subjects are identified in the table on pages 51-66.

Your score for the final 20 credits of study can come from:
- either your score from:
  - another 20 credit Tas or Recognised Studies equivalent to 20 credits
  - any two of the following:
    - half the score of a 20 credit Tas or Recognised Studies equivalent to 20 credits
    - the score of a 10 credit Tas or Recognised Studies equivalent to 10 credits
    - the score of another 10 credit Tas or Recognised Studies equivalent to 10 credits

- Subject teachers submit student grades and all work from throughout the year from (in most cases) all students.
- This work is then moderated (checked to ensure the accuracy of the initial grading) and an individual subject score is assigned.
- This subject score is then scaled (modified to ensure that the difficulty of the subject is taken into account) and a final set of subject scores are issued.
- Bonus points are then added (each university issues bonus points to students for various reasons, typically students from Navigator College receive 8 or 9 bonus points) and the final aggregate score is awarded to the student.

University access and bonus points schemes

All three universities in South Australia and Charles Darwin University in the Northern Territory operate schemes designed to provide students from under-represented or educationally disadvantaged schools or backgrounds with assistance in gaining access to undergraduate courses/programs. In addition, the three universities in South Australia operate subject bonus points schemes for students who have completed particular subjects at SACE/NTCET Stage 2 level.

For applicants who are eligible for year 12 bonus points, SATAC will add the points to the university aggregate. The year 12 selection rank for the university or course/program listed as a preference will then be the ATAR which corresponds to the revised aggregate.

Selection ranks are university and/or course/program specific and do not appear on SACE/NTCET documentation.
Step 3: The South Australian Tertiary Admissions Centre (SATAC) use the aggregate to calculate an ATAR

“The ATAR is an indicator of how well a particular student has performed relative to other students. It is calculated as follows:

- For each university aggregate score (in the range 0-80.0) obtained by the students in this cohort, the percentage of students who obtained that score or better is calculated. This is known as calculating the percentile distribution.
- Each score in the range 0-80.0 now has a corresponding percentile rank in the range 0-100. For example, if a score of 70.4 or better out of 80.0 has been obtained by 10% of the cohort, the score of 70.4 will correspond to a percentile rank of 90.0 (100 – 10).
- The percentile rank is then adjusted to take account of the participation rate and the result is the ATAR.

For example:

Carmen’s total score from her best 60 credits of TAS is: 19.8 + 18.2 + 17.0 = 55.0
Carmen’s best score for her flexible option comes from her Research Project and half the score of a 20 credit TAS: 7.8 + 1/2 (14.2) = 14.9
Her university aggregate is therefore: 55.0 + 14.9 = 69.9 (out of 80)
Carmen’s TAFE SA Selection Score is the sum of her best 60 credits of study: 19.8 + 18.2 + 17.0 = 55.0 (out of 60)

Deb’s best score for her flexible option comes from another 20 credit TAS: 10.2
Her university aggregate is therefore: 43.4 + 10.2 = 53.6 (out of 80)
Deb’s TAFE SA Selection Score is the sum of her best 60 credits of study: 16.2 + 14.8 + 12.4 = 43.4 (out of 60)
The Service Learning Students (Year 11) were engaged to cater for a Telstra Country Wide function at the Ravendale Complex on Tuesday night. The highlight of the evening was the two football stars that attended as Special Guests; Daniel Talia (2014 Best and Fairest for the Crows Football Club 2014) and Domenic Cassisi (who was the Port Power Captain from 2009 to 2012). They were both fantastic providing plenty of opportunities for the students to take some photos with them and to talk about the Service Learning Trip to Indonesia. The food they served, especially the fresh Spencer Gulf Prawns and Coffin Bay Oysters, was certainly well received. The venture proved very successful, with the profit for the night, $360.00, going towards the purchase of the bunk beds for the boarding house at GKPS. A huge thank you to the students who returned for the evening to help out with service and preparations and to Diane Moseby, Sarah Smith and Susan Hopping for also helping lead the team. Thank you also goes to Telstra Country Wide for engaging the College for this event. It was rewarding to hear a number of the guests commented at the end of the night on how well the students conducted themselves and how smart they looked in their College uniforms. So, to those students who attended and helped out, give yourselves a pat on the back, you do the College proud!
